

Seal One AG wins Payment Award „Goldene Transaktion 2020“ - User Experience

The Golden Transaction is an annual award (since 2017) given at the Payment Exchange, a Payment & Banking conference for fintech, payment, and banking experts.

The jury consisted of Katharina Schneider from Handelsblatt, Juliane Schmitz-Engels from Mastercard, Nils Wischmeyer from Süddeutsche Zeitung, Hanno Bender from Lebensmittel Zeitung, Dr. Vincent Hauptert from IconicFinance, Michael Seifert from netcetera, Sven Korschowski from KPMG, Volker Broer from Senacor, and Jochen Siegert from Payment & Banking.

Seal One was recognized for its SCA/2FA security method, which offers strong digital signatures instead of short “insecure” TANs without sacrificing user convenience via their two offerings: secure and very easy to use apps (offering biometric authorizations by fingerprint and Face ID) and very secure and easy to use hardware devices (authorization at the push of a button for the highest security needs - large amounts in GK/FK banking).

Seal One offers a simple, secure, and convenient PSD2-compliant 2FA/SCA solution which is made available to banks and payment/identity providers. In the day and age of PSD2’s heightened security requirements, the convenience and usability of a financial institution’s method for transactional approval is a critical factor for success.

The Payment Exchange is an event in a conference series put on by the makers of “Payment & Banking”, who are behind the creation of the German fintech industry. These industry meetings give guests and payment experts the opportunity to chat and network about innovative topics and trends.
